Vincenzo Gemignani was born in Viareggio (Italy), in 1969. He graduated in Electronic Engineering from the University of Pisa (Italy) in 1995. In 2009 he received a Master Degree in High Tech Entrepreneurship from the SIAF International School for Advanced Education, Volterra, Italy

Since 1997, he has been working at the Institute of Clinical Physiology of the Italian National Research Council. His main research interests are in diagnostic ultrasound, real-time image analysis, non-invasive patient monitoring and telemedicine.

Since 2011 he is co-founder and CEO of Quipu, a start-up company dedicated to the development of a new generation of biomedical ultrasound systems.